

RONNIE HAYWARD

Born and educated in the lovely City of Oxford, Ronnie is one of Britain's most successful comedy talents. The UK has always produced original talented artistes and such a unique individual is... 'Squire' Ronnie Hayward.

It all started at school when he dreamed of being an entertainer. Since those early days, television, radio, theatre, cabaret, summer seasons, pantomime and cruising have all formed the basis of his career.

His television debut came as a young man on 'Sunday Night At The London Palladium'.

Since then he has been seen on the small screen many times with appearances on programmes such as 'The Dean Martin Show', 'The Val Doonican Series', 'Seaside Special', 'Monkhouse', 'Starburst', 'The Coedians', as well as his own series of 'Ronnie's Roads', 'Don't fence Me In', and 'The Grass Is Greener'. We also hear him frequently on radio shows, putting his quick wit to the test on many light entertainment panel shows.

It isn't just on terra firma that he is in demand, he also finds himself aboard many of the world's top luxury cruise liners, entertaining the floating audiences.

For many years he was also the special guest on all The Val Doonican concerts around Britain and Ireland. He also makes regular visits to Australia where he appears on television and concert tours.

This softly spoken unassuming gentleman has been honoured to entertain members of The Royal family and he is often requested to appear for Her Majesty's Forces personnel in various parts of the world.

'Squire' Ronnie Hayward has co-starred with many of the leading names in showbusiness and can be trusted as being one of the 'cleanest' comedians on the circuit, therefore making him an asset to any function or event, and for any type of audience.